

Intelligent Contacts Partners

Intelligent Contacts offers enterprise-level communication and payment solutions for some of the largest healthcare networks and accounts receivable management firms in the country. Because our technology is "white-labeled," you may have never heard of us. That's fine. We're happy to remain the silent partners behind over $1 billion in payment processing to date (and counting).

Are you looking to add a revenue-generating component to your business model? We're looking for strategic partners to help us connect to clients looking to add these key communication and payment elements to their business.

Are you the bacon to our eggs? Maybe we're the peanut butter to your jelly?

Referral Partners

You're a connector. You may be part of an organization already providing complimentary technology (like CRM, accounting or banking software, or similar products) and you would like to build into your business model a revenue-generating component that's fulfilled when a reputable software vendor finds new business.

Would you like to help your clients or business contacts save money and become more effective through the solutions Intelligent Contacts offers—all while earning referral fees?

**Any company may apply to become a Referral Partner.*

Reseller Partners

You're a consultant, integrator, or technology professional that actively connects your clients to their end customers through the enterprise-level communication and payment solutions Intelligent Contacts offers.

Leverage the investments you've already made in technology and the personal business relationships you've developed by reselling our industry-leading products and services—the ultimate win-win!

Start earning a commission for the clients you resell and help to retain while helping them save money and increase efficiency.

**This opportunity is for a select group of partners who meet specific criteria and milestones.*

ISO Partners

You're an Independent Sales Organization, working specifically with payment solutions, who resells our payment processing services and provides basic merchant account support.

Would you like to earn fees from new businesses you sell our payment processing services to?

**Any company may apply to become an ISO Partner, although there are certain qualifications.*

Master Distributor

You're a major connector in the technology space who resells and supports Intelligent Contacts solutions within a country or international territory. Master Distributors may add and manage their own Reseller Partners within their designated territory.

Are you ready to take our industry-leading communication and payment features worldwide and begin earning fees as a distributor and from the resellers you add and manage in your territory?

**Companies outside of the US who meet specific criteria and milestones may apply.*
